Info / Clients

I established Carbonbased as a boutique design agency in 2005. With assistance from the Princes Trust and by applying my industry-acquired expertise the business has grown steadily and I'm producing some exciting work for a variety of clients such as Youngs Brewery and Millington Associates.

CST Group

1/02 - 10/04

- Project management
- Web design
- Web production
- Flash animation

Working closely with a small, non-hierarchical team, I was involved in the development of many high profile websites including TGI Friday's UK and Allied Domecq Wines and Spirits. I was responsible for revamping and up-keeping existing websites as well as project managing, designing and producing new ones.

Professional

Running my own company has given me confident client-liaison skills and business acumen. I am able to prioritise effectively in order to meet the strictest of deadlines and briefs, skills which I have further honed through my various freelance roles.

My time at CST Group was largely self motivated and often based on intuition, hence my time and people management skills are highly honed, as is my ability to work effectively as part of a group. I have practical experience in the design industry, particularly web design, and have developed a dedicated, efficient and professional attitude towards my work.

Personal

I am passionate about travel and have enjoyed motivational and inspiring trips to Australasia, South East Asia and Europe. During a recent trip to Thailand I taught Burmese refugees web design and internet skills.

My love of design goes beyond the professional and I produce artwork for my own enjoyment. I am a keen reader and creative writer, favouring philosophy, social commentary and modern fiction.

I am a DJ and music producer and I've been involved in many successful events in Brighton, as well as playing in a 30-piece samba band. For audio, visit: www.thereverseengineer.co.uk
